More stories at WordBlanks.com

The Onion: Politics

1. Proper Noun _____
2. Adjective _____
3. Location _____
4. Proper Noun _____
5. Verb - Past Tense _____
6. Noun _____
7. Noun - Plural _____
8. Adverb _____
9. Location _____
10. Proper Noun _____
11. Adjective _____
12. Adverb _____
13. Adverb _____
14. Adverb _____
15. Location _____
16. Location _____
17. Noun _____
18. Proper Noun _____
19. Proper Noun _____
20. Verb - Past Tense _____
21. Noun _____
22. Part Of Body _____
23. Adjective _____

24. Noun _____

25. Adverb _____

26. Noun _____

27. Verb - Past Tense _____

28. Verb - Past Tense _____

29. Location _____

The Onion: Politics

CANTON, OH--As part of an effort to cut into President _____Proper Noun_____ lead in the _____Adjective_____ swing state of _____Location_____, Mitt _____Proper Noun_____ reportedly _____Verb - Past Tense_____ at full speed Monday around the entire state screaming "_____Noun_____!" at the top of his _____Noun - Plural_____ while smiling and waving _____Adverb_____. "Hello, _____Location_____! How ya doing? Hi! How is everybody? I'm Mitt _____Proper Noun_____!" the _____Adjective_____, sweat-drenched candidate spat out _____Adverb_____ as he tore across the state without pause, _____Adverb_____ kissing babies and tossing them _____Adverb_____ over his shoulder in a mad dash that has now taken him through 30 of _____Location_____ 88 counties. "The beautiful state of _____Location_____! Go _____Noun_____! Jobs! Ohio! Hello! I'm Mitt _____Proper Noun_____!" At press time, _____Proper Noun_____ had reportedly _____Verb - Past Tense_____ through the plate-glass front _____Noun_____ of a North Canton bar, scrambled to his _____Part of Body_____, wolfed down a _____Adjective_____ plate of _____Noun_____, waved to restaurant patrons for five seconds, _____Adverb_____ stammered out a few words about the _____Noun_____, _____Verb - Past Tense_____ out through the front door, and _____Verb - Past Tense_____ in the direction of _____Location_____.

©2026 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.