More stories at WordBlanks.com

A Dad and Son go to college

1. Adjective _____
2. Adjective _____
3. Verb _____
4. Adjective _____
5. Verb - Past Participle _____
6. Noun _____
7. Number _____
8. Noun _____
9. Verb - Present Tense _____
10. Noun _____
11. Noun _____

A Dad and Son go to college

Once upon a time there was a very _____Adjective_____ teenage and a _____Adjective_____ father that went to college together. They both loved to _____Verb_____ new things. The dad was a bit more _____Adjective_____ strung then his son. And the son was a bit too _____Verb - Past Participle_____ back for his fathers liking. In spite of these differences they formed a _____Noun_____ and closeness that few dads and sons have. Relying on each other during the _____Number_____ years it took them to get their degree was a great _____Noun_____ experience for them both. Whether it was _____Verb - Present Tense_____ through discrete math or programing for hipster logic, they kept humor and _____Noun_____ alive. Now that they have reached their goal and have graduated with degrees in Computer Science their lives will soon diverge. Its a fact though, that the mutual _____Noun_____, love and appreciation they have for each other is deper because of taking this journey together.

©2026 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.