Day off school

Yesterday when I woke up, Mom said I didn't have to go to school. Wow! I couldn't believe it. My Mom was really letting me skip school. I jumped out of Noun and did a Adjective dance. Then, I went to the kitchen and fixed a bowl of cereal. After breakfast, I went into the living room and watched my favorite cartoon, Sponge Bob Square Pants. Mom came in and said we should go Location. This day was getting better and better. I Verb-Base Form to the car and buckled my seat belt excited that my Mom was taking me shopping. Mom turned the Noun on and I Verb-Past Tense all the songs that came on and didn't pay any attention to where we were going. Finally, Mom turned into a parking lot and stopped the car. I looked out the window and realized we weren't at the mall, but instead she had driven me to the doctor's office. " Hey, this isn't the mall," I cried. "Oh," said Mom, "I forgot to tell you that we had a stop to make before we went shopping."
