The Greatest Story Ever Told

This is the _____Adjective_____ story ever told. It is about the _____Noun_____ with a capital A; the _____Noun_____ of life and all that we see, even what we don't see.

God created the world and everything in it out of love, love for us! The _____Noun - Plural_____, the _____Noun - Plural_____, the _____Noun - Plural_____, the _____Noun - Plural_____, the rivers, and the oceans, God created it all. We too were created, formed in God's image, so we were formed out of love to _____Verb - Base Form_____ others. God _____Verb - Present ends in S_____ us so much that even when we sinned and turned away from God, God made a covenant with us, a promise. God said to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob that I will make a great nation out of you, and bless you so you can be a _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ to others.

God kept his part of the bargain, but we dropped the _____Noun_____, and then we dropped it again, and again. And so God gave us judges, people who would straighten us out, lead us back to worshipping and loving God. Some of these judges were intense like Samson who could tear _____Noun - Plural_____ in half and tie foxes _____Noun - Plural_____ together! The judges lasted for a while until the people wanted something a little more permanent , and to be like the other nations, like the _____Country_____ (well, way before the Brits, but the Brits rock monarchy fairly well). So the Israelites got a King, and another and another. These kings are kind of like us, they mean well, but they make mistakes. And after a few too many mistakes, the kingdom finally broke up and half of the people got carried away to Babylon (that is modern day Iraq)

Then after the kings were the _____Noun - Plural_____, they spoke about God in their current situation of life as refugees in a foreign land. Prophets looked at life, and said how it was supposed to be according to God's love.

Some

of the prophets even told of a day when God would come to be and _____Verb - Base Form_____ among us. How great of a story would that be!?
