_____ Noun had been _____ Verb - Past Tense for six months and still couldn't get his _____ Noun _____ Noun off. His finger had swelled doughily--a combination of _____ Adjective desire, unmitigated remorse, and misdirected ambition was how he _____ Verb - Past Tense it. "I'm going to have to have my entire finger surgically _____ Verb - Past Tense," he told his _____ Noun - Plural. The _____ Noun (supposedly gold, though now that everything he had ever received from Marilyn had been thrown into doubt, who knew?) cinched the blowsy fat of his _____ Noun, which had grown twistedly around it like a _____ Adjective happy _____ Noun. "Maybe I should _____ Verb the whole hand off and send it to her," he said on the phone to his friend _____ Proper Noun, with whom he worked at the State Historical Society. "She'd understand the reference." Ira had already ceremoniously _____ Verb - Past Participle _____ Noun to his dove-gray wedding tux--hanging it on a tall stick in his back yard, scarecrow style, and igniting it with a Bic lighter. "That _____ Noun went _____ Particle really fast," he gasped apologetically to the _____ Noun _____ Noun, after the hedge caught, too--and before he was _____ Verb - Past Participle overnight to the local lockdown facility. "So fast. Maybe it was, I don't know, like the residual _____ Adjective fluid."
