Another Day in ILS

_____Proper Noun_____, Steven's ILP, was driving to meet Steven at his apartment for their weekly visit. As _____Proper Noun_____ approached Steven's street, it was surprisingly blocked by construction. _____Proper Noun_____ decided to park next to two lovely trees, one block away from Steven's apartment. As _____Proper Noun_____ left his car, he was attacked by fifteen strong, bald eagles. _____Proper Noun_____ ran to Steven's apartment and banged on the door in desperation. Steven opened the door and let Justin into his apartment. The bald eagles surrounded Steven's apartment. _____Proper Noun_____ called Nick to ask for help on how to stop the vicious, beautiful bald eagles. Nick told Justin he needed two water guns, three pencils and a gallon of water to scare the beasts. Steven told _____Proper Noun_____ he didn't have the items because it wasn't on his weekly shopping list. As the bald eagles were about to tear down the walls of the apartment and attack them, _____Proper Noun_____ decided to sing SONG at the top of his lungs because he heard bald eagles hate that song. The bald eagles stopped and flew away. Steven turned to _____Proper Noun_____ and said, "That was awesome. Can you help me with my budget now?"
