Alice in Wonderland

There was a _____Noun_____ set out under a _____Noun_____ in _____Noun_____ of the _____Noun_____, and the _____Proper Noun_____ _____Proper Noun_____ and the _____Proper Noun_____ were _____Verb - Present Tense_____ _____Noun_____

at it: a _____Proper Noun_____ was _____Verb - Present Tense_____ between them, fast asleep, and the other two were using it as a _____Noun_____, _____Verb - Present Tense_____ their _____Noun - Plural_____ on it, and the _____Verb - Present Tense_____ over its _____Noun_____. `Very uncomfortable for the _____Proper Noun_____,' thought Alice; `only, as it's asleep, I

_____Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present_____ it _____Adverb_____ _____Noun_____.'

The _____Noun_____ was a large one, but the three were all crowded together at one corner of it: `No

_____Noun_____! No _____Noun_____!' they cried out when they saw Alice coming. `There's _____Proper Noun_____ of _____Noun_____!' said Alice indignantly, and she sat down in a large _____Noun_____ at one end of the _____Noun_____.

`Have some _____Noun_____,' the _____Verb - Past Tense_____ _____Preposition or subordinating conjunction_____ said in an _____Proper Noun_____ tone.

Alice _____Noun_____ all round the _____Verb - Past Tense_____, but there was _____Noun_____ on it but tea. `I _____Adverb_____ see any _____Noun_____,' she _____Verb - Past Tense_____.

`There

isn't any,' said the _____Adverb_____ _____Pronoun_____.

`Then it wasn't very _____Verb_____ of you to _____Verb - Past Tense_____ it,' said Alice angrily.

`It wasn't very _____Noun_____ of you to _____Verb - Past Tense_____ down without being _____Proper Noun_____,' said the March Hare.

`I didn't know it was YOUR _____Noun_____,' said Alice; `it's _____Verb - Past Tense_____ for a great many more than three.'

`Your _____Verb - Present Tense_____ wants cutting,' said the _____Noun_____. He had been _____Verb - Present Tense_____ at Alice for some time with great _____Noun_____, and this was his first _____Noun_____.

`You should learn not to make personal remarks,' Alice said with some severity; `it's very rude.'

The _____Noun_____ opened his eyes very wide on hearing this; but all he _____Proper Noun_____ was, `Why is a _____Noun_____ like a _____Noun_____?'

`Come, we shall have some fun now!' thought Alice. `I'm glad _____Noun_____ begun _____Verb - Present Tense_____ riddles

.--I _____Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present_____ I can guess that,' she added aloud.

`Do you mean that you think you can find out the answer to it?' said the _____Noun_____ _____Noun_____.

_____Verb - Past Tense_____ so,' said Alice.

`Then you should _____Proper Noun_____ what you _____Verb - Past Tense_____,' the _____Noun_____ _____Noun_____ went on.

`I do,' Alice hastily replied; `at least--at least I _____Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present_____ what I _____Verb - Past Tense_____ the same _____Noun_____, you know.'

`Not the same _____Noun_____ a bit!' said the _____Noun_____. `You might just as well say that "I _____Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present_____ what I _____Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present_____" is the same thing as "I _____Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present_____ what I _____Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present_____"!'

`You might just as well say,' added the _____Noun_____ _____Noun_____, `that "I like _____Noun_____ I get" is the _____Noun_____ thing as "I get _____Noun_____ I like"!'

`You

_____Noun_____ just as _____Noun_____ say,' added the _____Noun_____, who seemed to be talking in his sleep, `that "I _____Noun_____ when I sleep" is the same thing as "I sleep when I _____Noun_____"!'

`It IS the _____Verb - Past Tense_____ thing with you,' said the _____Verb - Past Tense_____, and here the _____Verb - Past Tense_____ dropped, and the party sat _____Proper Noun_____ for a minute, while Alice thought over all she could remember about _____Adjective_____ and _____Proper Noun_____, which wasn't much.

The Hatter was the first to break the silence. `What day of the month is it?' he said, turning to Alice: he had taken his watch out of his pocket, and was looking at it uneasily, shaking it every now and then, and holding it to his ear.

Alice considered a little, and then said `The fourth.'

`Two days wrong!' sighed the Hatter. `I told you butter wouldn't suit the works!' he added looking angrily at the March Hare.

`It was the BEST butter,' the March Hare meekly replied.

`Yes, but some crumbs must have got in as well,' the Hatter grumbled: `you shouldn't have put it in with the bread-knife

The March Hare took the watch and looked at it gloomily: then he dipped it into his cup of tea, and looked at it again: but he could think of nothing better to say than his first remark, `It was the BEST butter, you know.'

Alice had been looking over his shoulder with some curiosity. `What a funny watch!' she remarked. `It tells the day of the month, and doesn't tell what o'clock it is!'

`Why should it?' muttered the Hatter. `Does YOUR watch tell you what year it is?'

`Of course not,' Alice replied very readily: `but that's because it stays the same year for such a long time together .'

`Which is just the case with MINE,' said the Hatter.

Alice felt dreadfully puzzled. The Hatter's remark seemed to have no sort of meaning in it, and yet it was certainly English. `I don't quite understand you,' she said, as politely as she could.

`The Dormouse is asleep again,' said the Hatter, and he poured a little hot tea upon its nose.

The Dormouse shook its head impatiently, and said, without opening its eyes, `Of course, of course; just what I was going to remark myself.'

`Have you guessed the riddle yet?' the Hatter said, turning to Alice again.

`No, I give it up,' Alice replied: `what's the answer?'

`I haven't the slightest idea,' said the Hatter.

`Nor I,' said the March Hare.
