teacher martin

The school bell rang and announces the start of the first day back to school.

"This is drama class?" I ask one of the students sitting in front, not noticing the principal in front.

"Yes, it is. Sit down," she points at the chair right in front of the teacher's table at the other end of the room.

_____ First Name of a Person _____, he called and i looked up. i didnt hear what he said so i just stared at him, my cheeks getting redder by the second.
