The Story of Rob

During a [Adjective] blizzard in January of 1967, Rob Doornbos came into this world. True story, the snow was so [Adjective] that his own father was unable to [verb] his [Adjective] son for three days! Rob led a [Adjective] life, growing up in the midwest, playing [sport], riding [Noun - Plural] noun], and seeing the country from the backseat of that [Adjective] [Noun] -paneled station wagon. Eventually, his [Adjective] work in [Location] paid off and Rob found himself [Verb - Present ends in ING ending in "ing"] at the University of Wisconsin. Just [Number] short years later, he had graduated and found himself in Sacramento. "[exclamation]!" he said one day, "The [Noun] of my dreams!" for he had seen Kelly and in what seemed like [Number][unit of time] they were married. Life moved like a [weather event event] and before you knew it they had [Number] kids and had moved [Number] times, returning to [Adjective] Chico to join the family [Noun] farm and start his own company, Weather {type of type of tool-plural}. And, that's where we find Rob today, [emotion] and grateful for this journey and the [Adjective] friends like you share it with!
