There once was a _____job description_____ that needed a writer for their _____desired media_____. "Oh, if only I had a script that was well written!" they would cry. "Sure, I've hired _____a previous schmuck_____ in the past...but now I need someone who is easy to work with! Someone who takes direction and delivers on time!" And then, as if _____preferred deity_____ heard their plea, the contact information for such a writer appeared in their hands. The _____job description_____ wept with joy. "And he even works for _____dollar amount_____! So affordable!" Meanwhile the writer sat by his phone, politely refusing sex from _____attractive woman_____. "Not now, honey. I'm working."
