T'was The Night Before An Agency Holiday

As the Family Coordinators get ready to leave to deliver baskets, you notice that some of Holiday Baskets are missing some Food (plural). You replace the items with what Family coordinator (and) other family coordinators brought for I meal of the day and leave. Family coordinator signs out the Adjective van only to notice it's just about out of gas. Family coordinator forgot to fill it up with Liquid after they drove it last. Finally you Adverb leave and can deliver the baskets. There are Number stops to make to families and none of them are home. You take a Mode of transportation back to the office to type up the summaries to find out that Precision Care is down again. You check your voicemail and listen to all Number messages. They are all from Family coordinator wondering where their food is. At 3:30 a call from Family coordinator is received. They are out of Personal item in which they need you to deliver it immediately. You get back in your Vehicle and you are gone again.

Meanwhile back at the MSC Department, the printer is down again. You have been waiting for that Number page fax to arrive from the Provider so you can send out that packet for Msc to go to Event. You also need to finish that family reimbursement before the end of Year in order to submit for Msc and her Animal riding lessons. You too have to deliver Plural noun and notice that there is Meat missing. You replace it with Msc lunch and deliver the baskets. Upon returning you check your Number voicemails. Msc is back in jail and you need to file a 3 digit number. Happy Holidays.
