It All Started with a Phonecall

One week back in 2015 a bunch of Jewish educators each received a _____Adjective_____ phonecall from one Lesley Litman. There was a excited voice on the other end of the line exclaiming "Do I have a _____Noun_____ for you!" She went on to explain in detail all about the HUC EMA programme for Jewish _____Noun - Plural_____. We would be studying online together as a group and meet in beautiful locales such as Cincinnati, Los Angeles New York and _____Proper Noun_____! We would also have the opportunity to travel to the land of Israel. She forgot to mention in her phone call that we would all need working _____Noun - Plural_____, and the ability to notice, wonder and appreciate continually for the next two years. It sounded like a _____Adjective_____ opportunity to learn and grow in our fields and so we signed up for the _____Number_____ week introductory course with Rabbi Joseph and Dr. Levine. It was so _____Adjective_____ that many of us went on to apply to the program. In order to be accepted we were _____Verb - Past Participle_____, we needed to find our old _____Noun - Plural_____, invite 3 willing people to write us a letter of recommendation and finally we crafted an _____Adjective_____ essay. We each received an acceptance letter and an invitation to attend orientation in Cincinnati. The next thing we knew, we were all back together in New York for our first intensive seminar! We studied texts in _____Language_____, and learned about Modern Jewish _____Noun - Plural_____. We learned to study in Chevruta and our soon to be Cohort 5 motto: "I don't give a Rat's Ass" was born. Our dorms were _____Adjective_____, the food in NYC was _____Adjective_____ and we had many chances to bond as a group over wine and _____Noun - Plural_____. Online courses kept us connected and our clinical faculty mentors acted as cheerleaders, therapists and _____Noun - Plural_____ between our seminars in Los Angeles and New York. Before we knew it, we were in Israel together for 12 _____Noun - Plural_____ days, studying, touring and laughing for the entire time. Here we are, together one more time, our capstone, essays and deliberations are all behind us and we are ready to celebrate our educational journey together.
