T'was the Night Before An Agency Holiday

As Family Coordinator gets ready to leave he/she notices that some of Holiday Baskets are missing some _____Plural noun_____. Then Family Coordinator signs out the _____Color_____van only to notice it's just about out of gas. Another family coordinator forgot to fill it up after he/she drove it last. Finally you get out and can deliver the baskets. You have 30 stops to make to families and none of them are home. Disappointed, you come back to the office to type up your summaries, only to find out that Precision Care is down again. You check your voicemail and listen to all _____Number_____messages. They are all from the families that you attempted to deliver to. They apologised for not being home because they were at a party so they asked if you could go back out again today.

Meanwhile back at the MSC Department, the printer is down again. You have been waiting for that 23 page fax to arrive so you can send out that packet for Sheila to go to camp. A last minute meeting has been scheduled for 4:30 today for Shiela who wants to move to Canada next week. While you patienlty wait for the printer to be fixed you check you voicemail.
