Puppy's story

Once upon a time a troop from Tierrasanta took an Adjective field trip to the local park. They ran and Past tense verb and climbed trees. They were about to leave when a small puppy came wandering over. "Look how cute this puppy is!"; Can we Verb him?, they asked the leader. "He is cute, said the leader, but I bet he belongs to someone else. Let's check his collar. "I'll do it! shouted Emily. "No, said the leader, you must be very careful when you approach a strange dog. I'll let him sniff my hand. Then he'll know I'm Adjective too. The leader checked his tag, and there was a phone number on it. She used her cell phone to call, but no one Past tense verb. The leader and the girls walked around the Noun with the puppy. Soon they found a young girl Verb ending in ing on a bench, crying. But when she saw the girls and the puppy her face Past tense verb. "Rover!"; You're back! The girls knew they had found the puppy's owner. They were glad they could do a Adjective deed.
