My Story

While walking down Dunkin Donuts I saw an incredibly _____ Adjective _____ Noun sitting on the side of the road. I _____ Pronoun _____ around for a few minutes trying to find the owner but didn't see anyone. A few hours later on my way to class the car was still there, this time the car was running and no one was in it.

_____ Adverb I _____ Past tense verb into the _____ Noun and sped off. With my _____ Noun pumping I kept driving, looking back in the _____ Plural noun excepting the police. A few minutes passed but no one was behind me. I just kept driving, adrenaline still pumping. Five minutes passed when all of a sudden the doors and windows quickly locked. The _____ Noun died, and I the car _____ Past tense verb down quickly. "It's a bait car!"; I yelled to myself. Soon the _____ Adjective dressed police squad swarmed the car. I was caught, and arrested for grand theft auto. Next thing I knew, I was being _____ Adverb shaken awake by my professor. I had fallen asleep in my boring morning class.
