My Story

While walking down to Dunkin Donuts I saw an incredibly _____ Adjective _____ Noun sitting on the side of the road. I looked around for a few minutes trying to find the owner but didn't see anyone. A few hours later on my way to class the _____ Noun was still there, this time the _____ Noun was running and no one was in it. _____ Adverb I jumped into the car and sped off. With my _____ Noun pumping I kept driving, looking back in the mirrors excepting the police. A few minutes passed but no one was behind me. I just kept driving, adrenaline still pumping. Five minutes passed when all of a sudden the _____ Noun and _____ Noun quickly locked. The engine died, and I the car _____ Past tense verb down quickly. "It's a bait car!"; I yelled to myself. Soon the _____ Adjective dressed police squad swarmed the car. I was caught, and arrested for grand theft auto. Next thing I knew, I was being _____ Adverb shaken awake by my professor. I had fallen asleep in my _____ Adjective morning class.
