Just a Day at my Friends

It was a very nice day and me and my _____^{Noun} want to hangout. We all asked our parents and they said "yes". When we got there we all thought it would be a normal day but it turns out it wasn't. So me and my friends wanted to do something fun so we decided on playing football. When we were playing and scored we _____^{Verb} the _____^{Noun} off and it hit the ground and we all heard a load "ping"; sound. We went over there were we heard it hit then we started to dig, when we got to were we hit something hard we cleared the dirt. There we saw something that freaked us out, it was a bomb. We started to scream. It was a big _____^{Noun} to it would be able to devastate the whole country of _____^{State}. It had a timer on it, we couldn't read it at first but then we could it said 20 minutes till it would blow up so we opened up the compartment to see if it had a blue or red wire. It didn't so we started to scream some more but time was running out for the city of _____^{City} because if this blew it would wipe _____^{City} out and other city in its path. So it got down to 10 seconds we were trying everything then my one friend hit with a hammer on the top and it stopped at one second left. Girard and other cities were saved.
