Lions

Lions are predatory _____^{Plural noun} who manifest two types of social organization. Some are residents, living in groups, called prides. The pride consists of _____^{Adjective} _____^{Plural noun} their cubs of both sexes, and a group of one to _____^{Number} _____^{Plural noun} known as _____^{Adjective} _____^{Plural noun} who mate with the adult females. Others _____^{Verb} _____^{Plural noun} _____^{Verb} _____^{Plural noun} _____^{Conjunction} _____^{Verb} _____^{Plural noun} in pairs.

Being smaller and lighter than males, lionesses are more agile and faster and do the pride's hunting, while the stronger males patrol the territory and protect the pride, for which they take the 'lion's share' of the females' prey.

When resting, lions seem to enjoy _____^{Adjective} _____^{Verb ending in ing} with lots of touching, head rubbing, licking and purring. But when it comes to food, each lion looks out for itself. _____^{Verb ending in ing} and _____^{Verb ending in ing} are common, with adult males usually _____^{Verb ending in ing} first, followed by the females and then the _____^{Plural noun}.
