Randomness

What would you do if you looked outside one morning and saw an army of neon striped monkeys, flying coconuts, and blue donkeys approaching your house. Well I'll tell you what I would Do. I would decided to do sit on my couch and do nothing but than things turned for the worst the coconuts started braking in through the Windows and the neon monkeys broke in through the sealing, and the blue cows started to attack the rest of my neighborhood and then I realized I should have ran but the I went down my crazy green hallway to my Magic wonderfull rainbow neon random toilet I sat down in my crazy toilet and then the neon monkeys broke down the door and then I realized I was screwed.
