The Craziest Shift Ever

I work _____Location_____ on _____Day of the week_____ nights. It is my all-time favorite shift! I usually enjoy a _____Favorite drink_____ and a _____Adjective_____ walk around the covered sidewalks checking on _____Noun - Plural_____ _____. There are rarely any problems. This last Repeat Last Day of the week _____, however, was unlike any other. As I was _____ sitting inside of Repeat Last Location _____, it began _____Type of weather with ing_____. It began Repeat Last Type of weather with ing _____ hard. It _____Type of weather ed_____ so hard that I could hardly see out of the windows. But when I did see out those windows, this is what I saw.

Students began emerging from the bushes. They were wearing _____clothing pleural_____ and carrying _____Noun - Plural_____. Then, I heard " _____Name of a Song_____ " playing over a loudspeaker. The students suddenly began _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ in time. It was _____Adjective_____! A flashmob on campus?!? On BJU campus! ? My first thought was, "_____Interjection_____! This is really _____Adjective_____." But it got weirder. A _____Full Name of a Person_____ impersonator started climbing the _____Noun_____ belting out the main chorus. Not _____ twirling around the Repeat Last Noun _____. Climbing it! To the very top! Now, I'm beginning to worry. After all I am the one in charge of the area right now. What if this guy gets hurt?

But just when I thought it couldn't get any worse, another student joins in the _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ and _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____. Except this student was not wearing a _____clothing_____. He was wearing his _____ _____clothing_____! Aaah! What to do? Beckon Repeat Last Full Name of a Person _____ to please climb down, ask all the students to please stop Repeat Last Verb - Present ends in ING , or chase after the guy in Repeat Last clothing ? "Excuse me, but we ask all of our male students to please wear their clothing pleural at all times." But just when I thought it couldn't get any worse...

I woke up to Full Name of a Person tapping my shoulder. I had fallen asleep on the job.
