Dal Makhani

One day, Arun, Pooja, Rooshi, and Divya were walking back from _____Place_____. They were trying to bring a tray of _____Adjective_____ _____Food_____ back. Unfortunately, they left it in the hands of _____Person_____, which never is the right thing to _____Verb - Base Form_____. As they were nearing the Z-Center, a terrible thing happened. The tray exploded and dal rained over everyone. Considering himself to be more adept than Divya at carrying such items, Arun decided to carry the tray on his head. Little did he realize that he was wearing a new jacket and that heads are not the best for carrying liquidy items. Two minutes later, the tray began to leak again, this time on his jacket. As all the girls began to giggle uncontrollably, the tray exploded, this time near McCormick. The tray was given back to Divya for some unknown reason, and exploded one more time. Finally, by the time the tray arrived in McCormick, there was only a little bit left. The best part was when Rooshi looked down and said, Dammit guys, I didnt even touch the tray and its all over me.
