Ella Enchanted

That fool of a _____Adjective_____ Lucinda did not _____Verb_____ to lay a _____Noun_____ on me. She meant to bestow a _____Noun_____. When I cried _____Adverb_____ through my first hour of life, my _____Noun - Plural_____ were her inspiration. Shaking her _____Noun_____ sympathetically at Mother, the fairy touched my nose. "My _____Noun_____ is _____Noun_____. Ella will always be _____Adjective_____. Now stop crying, child."

I stopped.

Father was away on a trading _____Adjective_____ as usual, but our _____Proper Noun_____, Mandy, was there. She and Mother were horrified, but no matter how they explained it to Lucinda, they couldn't make her understand the terrible thing she'd done to me. I could picture the argument: Mandy's _____Verb - 3rd Person Singular Present_____ standing out sharper than usual, her _____Adjective_____ gray hair in disarray, and her double chin shaking with anger; Mother still and intense, her brown curls damp from labor, the _____Noun_____ gone from her eyes.

I couldn't imagine Lucinda. I didn't know what she looked like.

_____Verb_____ wouldn't undo the curse.

My first awareness of it came on my fifth birthday. I seem to remember that day perfectly, perhaps because Mandy told the tale so often.
