More stories at WordBlanks.com

Welcome to New York

1. Adjective _____
2. Verb - Present Ends In Ing _____
3. Location _____
4. Noun _____
5. Adjective _____
6. Noun _____
7. Noun _____
8. Noun _____
9. Verb - Past Tense _____

Welcome to New York

One day I was _____Adjective_____ _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ through the airport. It was the one family vacation we had every year, so everyone was hoping we caught our flight to _____Location_____. Suddenly I dropped my _____Noun_____. I couldn't believe how _____Adjective_____ I had been! Picking it up, I looked around to find my family. In relief, I saw someone with the same _____Noun_____ as my dad, and followed him. I handed the _____Noun_____ my ticket and rushed onto the plane. The man next to me was speaking a forien language so I simply put on my head phones and listened to the soothing sound of my _____Noun_____. Once the plane had landed, I _____Verb - Past Tense_____ into the airport. My family was nowhere to be seen. I went up to the front desk and looked at the sign: "Welcome to New York."

©2026 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.