The World Hates Barbie letter to Mattel

Dear Mattel

I would like to tell you a couple of things about your (adjective) Barbie toys. One, when your (noun) version of Barbie arrived at my house yesterday, my daughter (person in the room) spun its (toy that spins) and the house caught on fire and she got a third degree burn on her face. I seriously think that you should (form of destroying something) your product. To top that off, i truly (           Noun                     Noun                     Noun           ) your products.

Sincerely,

(person in room) (last name of that person)
