Gym Class Boo-Boo

One beautiful day, a young, smart, awesome, short girl left _____ Event _____ Event for gym. She walked into smelly locker room. As she got out her gym shirt and shorts she cringed by the smell. Her shoes smelled like rotten potatoes. But she put up with the smell and walked out into the gym. After roll call the gym class set up the soccer goals. Because the young, smart, awesome, short girl played soccer everyone wanted her on their team. When the teams were divided the game started. The gym floor squeaked loudly by all the pounding feet. Goals were scored and heads were sore. The players intensely used their bodies as shields and rebounders. The ball went soaring into a corner. The young, smart, awesome, short girl sprint over to the bouncing ball. As she stopped herself short of the ball. Then she heard a, POP! And that's how She tore her ACL.
