Williamsburg/DC!!!

We has such an Adjective time at Williamsburg! The bus rides there and back were Adjective!

We walked Number miles the first day through D.C. The Newseum was the first stop on our tour.

Adverb speaking, the timeline was the coolest and the 9-11 antennae was the saddest. Then we went to about Number more museums and memorials. The ride to Williamsburg was Adjective and Adjective. The next day we toured Colonial Williamsburg. Our guide was really Adjective, wouldn't you say? I thought he was annoying. Then we went shopping! You were right(when are you not?); the candy store was the Adjective - Superlative. After shopping we were allowed to swim. It was too

Adjective for some of us. The last day in Williamsburg we went to James Town. Remember how Steph

Verb - Past Tense the lead weight in the water? That was so funny! Next came Busch Gardens! I actually rode a rollercoaster with no knowledge of it...it was not Noun. But Steveleen and Kennifer were formed

! We never did have our Adjective pillow fight. On Monday we all went home. Everyone was Verb - Past Participle, but still people message bombed people on the other bus. Not to mention that we got 11 people in that Adjective bathroom. Finally we got home. Thanks for a Adjective time!
