A day of sexytime

Once upon a           Noun           there was a           Noun           named Duncan. Duncan was a           Adjective           little           Noun           who loved to have sex with all the hot pieces of           Noun           at school. Duncans mother was in on it too. she always had a           Noun           for each           Noun           who came over, let alone his grandma who he           Verb - Past Tense           with every night. Duncans thoughts are all about sex, racism, and video games. he likes to think about           Noun          , killing           Noun - Plural          , and beating           Noun          . Hi, my name is           Proper Noun          .
