Her Verison

Like most girls growing up, I always pray for God to bring my _____Noun_____ my way; and like most, I day _____Adjective_____ the various possible ways this would happen. Never, however did I imagine that God would bring him this way. I met Tyrone in July 2006 at a retirement party. My plan was to just go a show my face and leave early. However, something happen and I stayed the whole time and even attended the after party at a relative house. Probably the best thing I ever did. My _____Noun_____ Jane tried her hand at matchmaking and connected me and Tyrone. A week later we connected on the phone and instantly notice the depth of his knowledge, his enthusiasm to for life and his work ethic. It was at this point that I felt when I got a that I would not mind being friends with him.

Unforchanly, we lost touch for about 2 months. It was my birthday when we reconnected , Tyrone called to wish me a Happy Birthday on my actual birthday. I was kind of amaze that this guy that I talked to once for some reason, actually remember my birthday. He politely asked if he could take me out on my birthday next week. I agreed and the whole time I do not think I stop smiling and laughing once. From then on, we became very good friends, spending hours at a time talking about anything and everything. From there, the relationship became redefined to a dating relationship with marriage in view.

I really thank God for bringing us together. Tyrone is truly the answer to my prayer. It's amazing how God works in such a perfect way that when you least expect it, is when God brings him your way.
