How Watson Learned the Trick by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle

Watson had been Verb - Present ends in ING his companion Adverb ever since he had sat down to the breakfast table. Holmes happened to look up and Verb - Base Form his eye.
"Well, Watson, what are you Verb - Present ends in ING about?" he asked.
"About you."
"Me?"
"Yes, Holmes. I was Verb - Present ends in ING how superficial are these tricks of yours, and how Adjective it is that the public should continue to show interest in them."
"I quite agree," said Holmes. "In fact, I have a recollection that I have myself made a similar"
"Your methods," said Watson severely, "are really easily Verb - Past Tense ."
"No doubt," Holmes answered with a "Perhaps you will yourself give an example of this method of reasoning."

"With ______," said Watson. "I am able to say that you were greatly preoccupied when you got up this morning."

"Because you are ______ a very tidy man and yet you have forgotten to ________."

"______ me! How very clever!" said Holmes. "I had no idea, Watson, that you were so apt a _____Noun____. Has your eagle _____Part of Body_____detected anything more?"

"Yes, Holmes. You have a client named Barlow, and you have not been ______Adjective _____ with his case."

"Dear me, how could you know that?"

"I saw the name outside his ______. When you opened it you gave a groan and thrust it into your ______ with a frown on your ______ Part of Body_____."

"Admirable! You are indeed observant. Any other points?"

"I fear, Holmes, that you have taken to Adjective speculation."

"How could you tell that, Watson?"

"Well, that is very Adjective of you, Watson. Any more?"

"Yes, Holmes, you have put on your color coat, instead of your dressing gown, which proves that your are expecting some important visitor at once."

"Anything more?"

"I have no doubt that I could find other points, Holmes, but I only give you these few, in order to show you that there are other ______ in the world who can be as clever as _______."

"And some not so clever," said Holmes. "I admit that they are few, but I am afraid, my dear Watson, that I must count you among them."

"Well, my dear fellow, I fear your deductions have not been so Adjective as I should have wished."

"You mean that I was mistaken."

"Just a little that way, I fear. Let us take the Noun - Plural in their order: I did not Verb - Base Form because I have sent my razor to be sharpened. I put on my article of clothing because I have, worse luck, an early meeting with my occupation. His name is Barlow, and the letter was to confirm the appointment. The cricket page is beside the financial one, and I turned to it to find if Surrey was holding its own against Kent. But go on, Watson, go on! It 's a very Adjective trick, and no doubt you will soon acquire it."
