A fish story

Once there was a little _____ Noun who had a _____ Adjective boat on a boat. Early one morning, the boy rowed his boat out to sea. He dropped his fishing line into the water, pulled a sandwich out of his bag, and waited for a fish to take the worm off his hook. The sun rose in the sky and then drifted back to back into the sea. The boy was pulling in his line in preparation for the trip home when from above he heard a noise.
