Journey of a germ

Hi, I'm Rhinovirus or as my friends call me Rhino. I'm just your common household germ that lives among you.

I don't have much time to tell you my story considering I only live for three hours, but during those three hours though, whew- the places I'll go. Just think 5 minutes ago I was on a/an Object and now here I am on your Part of Body. I transfer from place to place by people just like yourself. The next place your Part of Body touches will be my next home, where I'll nestle in. If I'm lucky I'll end up on a surface where

I can stay infectious for days. Then, I'll multiply and have lots Adjective sisters and Adjective brothers who will get picked up by the next person who touches us. We'll spread our infection and conquer the world!

When you get a cold you're really being infected by Adjective guys like me. Have you ever taken a snot-

filled ride through a sneeze! Let me tell you- beats any roller coaster. Sneezes can move up to 100 miles per hour
