I'm not sure what alabaster is?

Once upon a time, _____<sup>Dragon</sup> lived a family of 30 _____<sup>Dragon</sup>. These were no ordinary dragons, as these dragons looked just like people. On the _____<sup>Dragon</sup> they had _____<sup>Dragon</sup>, and _____<sup>Dragon</sup> and _____<sup>Dragon</sup>, just as human beings do, but on the inside they had livers and stomachs and blood, also like people. Also, these dragons _____<sup>Dragon</sup> _____<sup>Verb</sup> fire. Between _____<sup>Number</sup> and 12 of them were _____<sup>Dragon</sup>. That's not important really, but, you know, it's good to be thorough with details.

Then they made spaghetti and meatballs and _____<sup>Dragon</sup> to be dragons. The end.
