My Dear

My Dearest           Your Name          ,

We have been           Adverb           for quite some time now, and I would like you to           Pronoun           that you make me the           Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present           I have ever been. You are           Noun          , and           Adjective          , and a handsome best friend. You make me truly happy. One day we can           Verb           into a fairy tale and have the large brood with           Number           kids and pets. You and I are soon           Verb - Present ends in ING           to Washington D.C. where we will           Noun           our hearts away. We will           Verb           to the hilltops to           Verb           the monuments, and venture into           Adjective           museums. We will make           Adjective           eyes at each other and           Noun           till we drop. Much of this we already do, but leaving New York seems like fun, even if for a few days. We will take           Number           photos, and I will do bunny ears in at least           Number           of them. You make me so           Adjective          . I hope you like this           Adjective           game, and made it quite funny.

Forever Yours,

          My Name
