

The Kid Who Played a Practical Joke

1. Noun
2. Adjective
3. Noun
4. Noun
5. Noun
6. Adjective
7. Verb - Base Form
8. Noun

The Kid Who Played a Practical Joke

There once was a Noun named Jon. Jon played a prank on his parents. His parents got really Adjective . But they were laughing so hard that it sounded weird. Jon took a fake page and made a homework sheet on the computer. Then he created fake answers that he knew his Noun would not choose. The ones that his parents would least likely chose was the answer. Then he started the Noun . As soon as he asked his dad for help on the first three out of six, his dad said the answer was b when the answer was really d. Then his dad answered c and the correct answer was b. The last problem for his dad to answer was d, but it was actually a. His Noun answered the other 3 and they were all wrong too. Jon goes to school with his Adjective page and gives himself a zero. Jon Verb - Base Form the paper at school in his desk for 2 days. When we took home the paper, his parents saw that he received a zero. They told him that they were sorry for giving him the wrong Noun . Then they noticed that it was a prank.