

kljk

1. Noun - Plural

kljk

I am so dazed to be at Tim and Emily's wedding. Emily is a silly bride, and Tim is a juicy groom. Together, they make an meaty couple Tomorrow is the stinky day, and I am so bouncy. I hope it judges ! The ceremony will be gassy and melted, and I can't think for the reception. The pickle and kite will be flowing, and the food will be cold. I am looking forward to racing the _____ Noun - Plural away with friends and chickens. If all goes according to plan, I will scare a priest from my wedding date under the mistle toe ! Then, at the end of the night, we will say goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Holewczynski with a shy invisible send-off. I cannot wait to trade ! This weekend will be one to digest !