Alice in Wonderland One

`Here! you may nurse it a bit, if you like!' the Duchess said to Alice, _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ the baby at her as she spoke. `I must go and get ready to play croquet with the Queen,' and she _____Verb - Past Tense_____ out of the room. The cook _____Verb - Past Tense_____ a frying-pan after her as she went out, but it just missed her.

Alice caught the baby with some difficulty, as it was a queer-shaped _____Adjective_____ creature, and held out its arms and legs in all directions, `just like a _____Noun_____,' thought Alice. The poor _____Adjective_____ thing was _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ like a steam-engine when she _____Verb - Past Tense_____ it, and kept doubling itself up and straightening itself out again, so that altogether, for the first minute or two, it was as much as she could do to hold it.

As soon as she had made out the proper way of _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ it, (which was to twist it up into a sort of knot, and then keep tight hold of its right ear and left foot, so as to prevent its undoing itself,) she carried it out into the open air. `If I don't take this child away with me,' thought Alice, `they're sure to _____Verb - Base Form_____ it in a day or two: wouldn't it be murder to leave it behind?' She said the last words out loud, and the _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____ grunted in reply (it had left off _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____ by this time). `Don't grunt,' said Alice; `that's not at all a proper way of expressing yourself.'

The baby grunted again, and Alice looked very _____Adverb_____ into its face to see what was the matter with it. There could be no doubt that it had a very turn-up nose, much more like a _____Noun_____ than a real nose; also its eyes were getting extremely small for a baby: altogether Alice did not like the look of the thing at all. `But perhaps it was only _____Verb - Present ends in ING_____,' she thought, and looked into its eyes again, to see if there were any tears.

No, there were no tears. `If you're going to turn into a pig, my dear,' said Alice, _____Adverb_____, `I'll have nothing more to do with you. Mind now!' The _____Adjective_____ _____Adjective_____ thing sobbed again (or grunted , it was impossible to say which), and they went on for some while in silence.
