More stories at WordBlanks.com

Life on the Farm

1. Preposition Or Subordinating Conjunction _____
2. Adjective _____
3. Adjective _____
4. Adjective _____
5. Adjective _____
6. Adjective _____
7. Adjective _____

Life on the Farm

Everyday is the same things, _____Preposition or subordinating conjunction_____ the horses to the hens. I start my day off by doing _____Adjective_____ chores at 6 am, I feed them Friskies cat food. Then I make my way to the hens, I first get the eggs, and then feed them corn, and water them. I feed the horses one bale of hay, then also water them. My _____Adjective_____ Kristine feeds the bottle baby calf, she feeds her with a calf bottle.

At 5 pm Kristine and I go _____Adjective_____ out to the farm and repeat the chores. All the animals get fed twice a day. We do not live at the _____Adjective_____, the farm is my grandparents, Connie and Mike Collins. When they are not home we do all the farm chores. When _____Adjective_____ not home we feed Maggie and Tinker, they are the farm in house dogs. Also water the flowers in and outside. _____Adjective_____ Mike let me mow the yard once, but i don't think he don't want me to get hurt.

©2026 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.