Attack of the Rainbow Ninjas

It was a Adjective day at the Compound Noun Museum of Common Noun... until the Rainbow

Ninjas appeared. The visitors Verb - Past Tense at them for a long time, in awe of their Adjective.

The ninjas did not notice them. They were too busy looking at the sign that said, "Concrete Noun".

They were so Adjective and full of Abstract Noun that the hearts of the dinosaurs in the dinosaur exhibit started beating. The Adjective visitors started to Verb - Base Form towards the exit while Verb - Base Form loudly.

"STOP, Verb - Base Form, Conjunction ROLL!" yelled Rose, one of the rainbow ninjas. The visitors obeyed, but then the 50 foot tall, Adjective, dinosaur looked at them and fried them with its laser vision.

It then turned towards the ninjas and stomped towards them.

"Interjection!" yelled Proper Noun as Pronoun ran away from the dinosaur. "Think of the Collective Noun! They're too young to die!" It didn't matter, though, because ultimately, the children

Verb - Past Tense.

The dinosaur then dropped to the Noun. The ninjas Verb - Base Form at it in bewilderment, having no idea of what was happening. Then, they realized that it was doing push-ups. Pronoun wasn't doing so well because of its Adjective and Adjective arms, so they used that opportunity to pin it down with their Noun powers.

However, the dinosaur resisted, and just kept attacking. Things were looking pretty grim. The Possessive

Noun roof was falling down, people were Adverb running, and there were Noun - Plural everywhere.

But then... the disco hippo showed up.

It used its powers of disco and started dancing around. Invigorated by the dance, the rainbow ninjas

Verb - Past Tense to Verb - Past Tense off the dinosaur. One threw a large Singular Noun to distract the dinosaur, while another ninja threw a rainbow at it. The combination of stuff finally made the dinosaur fall Noun a glass case and die.

Afterwards, the ninjas thanked the hippo for its magical dancing. They then proceeded to have a tea party. Their tea party was so awesome that the world blew up and everyone died. The end.
