Much adDUE PROCESS About Nothing

You know you might be a _____Noun_____ if you think people should be required to get a government permit before being allowed to _____Verb_____. Yes, there are many out there who _____Verb_____ but think that children are on the same level as the leash that holds their _____Noun_____ or quite the opposite where their children do no wrong. There are also students who make you _____Verb_____ what planet they are from. There are also days where you wish you could turn the switch in your _____Noun_____ to say what you really want to say to those parents or students. For example, Calvin who is a sixth grader has a _____Noun_____ that makes me want to pull my hair out. One day he proceded to take a test which the question read "When did the _____Proper Noun_____ land at _____Proper Noun_____ _____Proper Noun_____?". His response was "_____Number_____. As you can see I have memorized this utterly useless fact long enought to pass this test question. I now intend to forget it forever. You taught me nothing except how to cynically manipulate the system. Congratulations!" At this point there are two options running through my head: one, grab the child by the _____Noun - Plural_____ and proceed to sling them across the yard and put them in the 'Chokey" as done in the movie Matilda if you have ever seen it. Option two, pull Calvin aside and ask why he wrote what he did. Of course option two is the only acceptable _____Noun_____ if I wish to keep a job and my supposed _____Noun_____. He responded with "John Milton wrote Paradise Lost. Then his wife died and he wrote Paradise Regained. Which I am sure I could write a great novel if I wasn't so occupied with _____Adjective_____ information given here." So in due process I _____Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular_____ _____Present_____ a letter home explaining the situation and askig for a _____Noun_____ praying the parents to be normal. Why would I ever _____Verb_____ of such an ideal situation? It just leaves my hopes _____Verb - Present Tense_____ to be crushed by the million pound fist of _____Noun_____. At 6pm mom and dad walk in. Dad is the size of a _____Proper Noun_____ _____Noun_____ dressed in a cut off shirt with WWE's Undertaker plastered across it. Mom looks as delicate as a glass vase. So why marry a _____Noun_____ if you are the china shop! Oh well, chalk that up as an unanswered question for the ages. As they sit down, I proceed to explain the smart ass remarks of their child in the nicest way possible. Dad begins to address me with the Hulk Hogan style "Brother! Whatcha gonna do when the Calvster runs wild on you?" After 30 minutes of getting no where with dad and watching mom smile off into space, I _____Verb - Past Tense_____ the meeting with possible options in class for me to address Calvin including the _____Adjective_____ office, ISS, and other _____Noun - Plural_____. The inspiring quotes from Calvin continue on:

"Everybody seeks happiness! Not me, though! That's the difference between me and the rest of the _____Noun_____. Happiness isn't good enough for me! I _____Verb - Non 3rd Person Singular Present_____ euphoria!"

"The world _____Adverb_____ you when you're cool." (during World History)

"Life is full of _____Adverb_____, but never when you need one." (finding out I was pregnant)

"Getting an inch of _____Preposition or subordinating conjunction_____ is like winning 10 cents in the lottery." (Snow day gone sour)

"So the _____Noun - Plural_____ to good self-esteem is to lower your expectations to the point where they're already met?" (Answer for a test in social studies)

So I stopped getting frustrated with Calvin, have begun my book of quotes, and keep a bottle of Parrot Bay in my mini fridge! Life's a Beach!!
