They tell us, sir, that we are Adjective; unable to Verb with so Adjective an adversary.

But when shall we be Adverb - Comparative? Will it be the next week, or the next year? Will it be when we are totally Adjective, and when a British guard shall be Verb - Past Participle in every Noun?

Shall we Verb strength by irresolution and inaction? Shall we Verb the means of effectual resistance, by lying supinely on our Noun - Plural, and Verb - Present Tense the delusive phantom of hope, until our enemies shall have Verb - Past Participle us hand and foot? Sir, we are not weak if we make a Adjective use of those means which the God of nature hath placed in our Noun.

Number millions of people, armed in the holy cause of Noun, and in such a country as that which we possess, are Adjective by any force which our enemy can send against us. Besides, sir, we shall not fight our battles alone. There is a just Proper Noun who presides over the destinies of Noun - Plural; and who will raise up friends to fight our Noun - Plural for us. The Noun, sir, is not to the strong alone; it is to the Noun, the active, the brave. Besides, sir, we have no election. If we were base enough to desire it, it is now too late to retire from the Noun. There is no retreat but in submission and slavery! Our chains are forged! Their clanking may be heard on the Noun - Plural of Boston! The war is inevitable and let it come! I repeat it, sir, let it come.

It is in vain, sir, to extenuate the matter. Gentlemen may Verb, Peace, Peace but there is no peace. The war is actually begun! The next gale that Noun - Plural from the north will bring to our ears the clash of resounding _____ Noun - Plural ! Our brethren are already in the field! Why stand we here idle? What is it that gentlemen wish? What would they have? Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be _____ Verb - Past Participle at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what _____ Noun others may take; but as for me, give me _____ Noun or give me death!
