Spooky story

Once upon a time there were _____ Adjective brothers who lived in a _____ Adjective house in a very lonely part of Scotland. An _____ Adjective woman used to do the _____ Adjective cooking, and there was no one else, unless we count her _____ Adjective cat and _____ Adjective dogs, within miles of them.

One _____ Adjective afternoon the elder of the two, whom we will call Elshender, said he would not go out - so the younger one, Fergus, went alone to follow the _____ Adjective path where they had been camping the day before, far across the mountains.

He meant to return home before the _____ Adjective sunset - however, he did not do so, and Elshender became very uneasy as he watched and waited in vain till long after their usual suppertime. At last Fergus returned, _____ Adjective and tired, nor did he explain why he was so late.

But after supper when the _____ Adjective brothers were seated before the _____ Adjective fire, on which the peat crackled cheerfully, the _____ Adjective dogs lying at their feet, and the _____ Adjective woman's _____ Adjective cat sitting gravely with half-shut eyes on the hearth between them, Fergus recovered himself and began to tell his adventures.
