Witches in Salem

It was a Adjective day in the colony of Massachusetts. Since it was the Sabbath, all the Proper Noun prepared to leave for church. There was no talking, Verb - Present Tense, or playing around. As the families entered the church, men, women, and Noun - Plural all sat separately. As the minister talked Adjective things began to happen. Girls started yelling and seeing things that did not exist. Fear spread throughout the Puritans.

As the doctors examined the Pronoun they decided it was the Noun work. Only the devil could cause the girls to see things or make their bodies convulse. Stories began to spread around the town of Salem that Noun - Plural lived among them.

People began to Verb - Base Form on their neighbors and reported anything out of the ordinary as witchcraft. The Puritans were afraid the witches would Verb - Base Form them. Soon the accused witches were put on trial for their actions with the devil. In just over a year 23 witches were executed by Verb - Base Form
