

Sierra Grantland~Mad Lib

1. Noun _____
2. Noun _____
3. Verb - Past Tense _____
4. Adverb _____
5. Conjunction _____
6. Conjunction _____
7. Adjective _____
8. Pronoun _____
9. Preposition _____
10. Verb - Past Tense _____
11. Interjection _____
12. Pronoun _____
13. Pronoun _____
14. Interjection _____
15. Adjective _____
16. Preposition _____

Sierra Grantland~Mad Lib

One day, walking back the field _____ Noun _____ to go hunting, a _____ Noun _____ Verb - Past Tense _____ out in front of me. I pulled up my gun _____ Adverb _____, _____ conjunction _____ I wasn't fast enough. I looked, but didn't see it. Then, I heard snorting. I looked, _____ Conjunction _____ heard a small crunch of leaves. Pulling up my gun again, I looked through the scope. All I could see was the _____ Adjective _____ of his tail. _____ Pronoun _____ put my gun down, but quickly got it back up when the deer turned to face me. Taking the safety off, I aimed my gun. But just then I saw something dark coming _____ Preposition _____ of a tree. Still looking through my scope, I looked to see what the dark thing in the tree was. It was a person. A poacher. Quickly I _____ Verb - Past Tense _____ to my dad, " _____ Interjection _____ ! Look in that tree". "What?!" _____ Pronoun _____ _____ Pronoun _____. " _____ Interjection _____ in the tree, who is that?" I asked. He confirmed it was a poacher. I had instantly known that something wasn't right, because all the hunters on our property were wearing _____ Adjective _____, and no one was stationed to be _____ Preposition _____ that tree. I put my aim back to the deer. I saw that he had moved, and was in plain view... But I couldn't shoot because he was at the sky line. I knew if I missed, the bullet could travel a mile and a half...