1. Pronoun _____

brady mad lib

It was 12:00 at night my phone rang. _____Pronoun_____ picked it up and my friend said he was being held hostage at a bank. He said to get the police and come to the bank. So i jumped in my car and was halfway down the road when I relized what if the police would not belive me so I went to the bank and took a picture of the guys. When I got to the police it was 2:00 In the morning. So got out and ran in I told them what the sittuation was. They asked me if I had proff that this happened, so I showed them the picture and they got five more cops and we went down to the bank. When we got there I heard a pops of sounds and yelling inside. The yelled through a bull horn to come out of the bank with their hands up. I heard more yelling and pops of sounds . The cops yelled the same thing again and this time the cops split up and got them. I was and glad my friend did not get hurt and i went back to my house and had an awsome sleep.
