_____ Pronoun family was going on a vacation to Hawaii. It all started when mom announced where we were going _____ Conjunction what we were doing. My little brother started jumping up and down screaming his head off and I ran around the house screaming YES! We left on a Friday night to go to the airport. We stopped at Starbucks at the airport and got some coffee and hot chocolate while we were waiting. We waited and waited until finally our flight was called. When we got in the plane the flight attendant used one of those fake voices that were supposed to sound happy but I knew she didn't want to be there. She brought us out a little bag of peanuts and some cold water and I ended up falling asleep. I woke up to the sound of "this flight will be landing in approximately 20 minutes!" When we finally landed we got our luggage and headed to the condo where we would be staying. The car pulled in front of the resort and we got out getting hugs from all the Hawaiians and yummy coconut drinks that I drank in less than 2 minutes. Mmm! When we walked into where we would be staying fruity smells filled the air. I had to get some rest because the next day would be a real adventure. We went swimming with the dolphins. Something I had wanted to do my whole life. We were swimming and having a good time until one of the dolphins had a wild rampage. He slammed against the wall forcefully and was swimming back and forth very quickly. _____ Pronoun ran out of the pool and everyone watched as the dolphin continued in his panic. One day wasted. The next few days it rained and we had to stay in the condo for the next 5 days. The whole vacation was ruined. We had to flight back home on the plane. And our crappy vacation was officially over.
