My First Plane Ride

We left for the	noun-place	noun-place	noun-place	_ at 2:00 am. It v	vas a cool July morning and I was awaken	by my dad	erb - Present ends in ING	_ me slightly	while he carried	me to my Noun - Plural white	te focus. Once he	noticed that I was av	wake he hugge	ed me soAd	the breath went out of my lungs. H	e whispered in my	y ear that I could cal	l him anytime	and that he love	d me. Up until that moment I was real	ly excited like wh	en you know that yo	ou're going to	have a great time	e but when the time comes you aren't really su	re if you want to	go. I didn't want to l	eave my big,	white, old house	or my family. Sitting in the back of the car	I started to cry	Adverb	Adverb sil	ent cry. My uncl	e Bert drove us to airport and told that it was	going to be fun.
When we were wal	lking through the	security line I	Adverb	Verb - Past Tense	past the muscular security guards not	wanting to make	them upset in any w	yay. The first	plane ride was no	othing compared to the next one on the big	g airline plane. Bo	arding the big plane	again my sho	ulder shaking cr	ying came back but it wasn't silent. Look	ing around in the	rows of seats I notic	ed that I was	the only child on	the plane. Then scanning the seats around m	e I realized I wasr	n't sitting by either o	f my grandpai	rents and I started	d to Verb - Base Form
. When everyone w	vas seated and I w	as still crying a fligh	nt attendant ca	refully floated u	p to me. Or it seemed she did. She asked me	if I would like to	go see the Noun	I cautio	usly nodded my	head and got up out of my seat. The pilot was	a Adjective	tall, Adjective	dressed,	Adjective	guy named David. He told me there was i	nothing to be afrai	id of and that if I wa	nted any snac	kies off the cart t	that he would pay for it.
He winked at me a	nd I giggled girlis	shly and was taken b	ack to my sea	t. Take off felt as	s if my stomach was dropping away from my body and was somewhere back on the runway. Up in the air my ears popped like hubba bubba bubbles blown by a child waiting in line."!" I thought, "this is great!"
