crazy story unit 4

Once upon a midnight- cold and dreary there was a Adjective Adjective man. He was sitting by the residue fire. He was a nonentity of a man. He wanted to Verb his book while sitting by the fire. He had no qualms about being there in this old house that night.

Then, he heard a knock at the door. His only recourse was to open the door to see if there was a blase person standing outside. He decided he would muster up an army of ants to see if they could help.
