The girl that loved tv and food

There once was a who owned her own show about food. It was the Macy's Preposition or subordinating conjunction parade and she was teaching Proper Noun how to make a Adjective, quick and easy meal. She was working with other people and they were making some potatoes with garlic and Looking at the, and eating. She would put the spoon back in the bowl, get another scoop, eat it, look at the camera,, and put the spoon back in the Then she got caught. She got fired for food poisoning and later she owned another show called "little mistakes make a big difference.".
