Once upon a time there was a small girl named Sassy Sally and she loved to sleep she could sleep all day if she could, so can her little scrawney dog named Fefe. One day Sassy Sally went to the kitchen to get some breakfast for her and Fefe and so she walked to the door and opened it Adverb and boom! bang! bam!, Sassy sally looked into what was supposed to be the front room "Wow! what happened to the front room" she thought to herself as she stood there with her mouth opened astonishingly, she took a step back from the door "Could I be dreaming ya what if this is all a dream im just going to pinch my self and walk to that door and get Fefe and I some Noun" she stood up slowly and pinched her self and walked over to the door and opened it slowly ..... nothing happened it was just the same old thing she saw, she shut the door and walked back to her Noun "Mabey I didn't pinch myself hard enough" she thought so she pinched her self again but a bit harder and walked to the door and opened it.... same thing "Ok " she thought to herself "I don't know if im doing this right but i getting sick of this" Sassy Sally marched over to her bed in a frustrated manner and pinched herself really hard "ouch!!!" she was so mad she went right over to the door and flung the door right open in was still the same she was so upset she left the door open to throw stuff out she picked up her alarm clock and she started to run but she didn't see Fefe in the way she tripped over Fefe and fell out the door. RING! RING! RING !.... Adverb Sassy Sally lunged out of bed to find that her alarm sassy Sally had woken her up she carefully opened the door and peeked in there it was the front room Sassy Sally jumped for joy that she had her front room back and was glad that it was just a dream.
