A Horse That Wore

Mr. Brown had to go to his camp at Pine Tree Valley, which is in the midst of the _____Noun - Plural_____ in _____Location_____.

His men were cutting down the giant _____Noun - Plural_____, and _____Noun - Plural_____ them in for the floods of the river, when the snows melted. Then they would _____Verb - Base Form_____ them down the mountain sides to the _____Adjective_____ villages below.

There was a great deal of snow on the mountains, and Mr. Brown knew it would be _____Adjective_____ work _____Adjective_____ to the camp, but Lady Gray was _____Adjective_____, and used to it.

Lady Gray was Mr. Brown's pet _____Animal_____, and _____Verb - Past Tense_____ him everywhere. She was always happy when her master was in the saddle.

But to-day the snow was very _____Adjective_____ and soon Mr. Brown had to get off, throw away the saddle, and lead her. They had to stop very often, and lean against the _____Noun - Plural_____ and _____Noun - Plural_____ for support, while they rested and _____Verb - Past Tense_____ their breath.

In places the snow was so _____Adjective_____ and soft, that they sank above their knees. Late in the afternoon they reached the camp nearly exhausted, and it was several days before they were able to return.

The snow was still deep and Mr. Brown knew he must go back on snow-shoes, but he was afraid Lady Gray would have to be left behind.

Finally one of the men suggested making her some _____Noun - Plural_____. They cut _____Number_____ round pieces of board, _____Number_____ inches across, and fastened them on with rope. Lady Gray seemed to understand what they were for and tried very hard to _____Verb - Base Form_____ in them.

She was very awkward at first and could hardly stand up, but by practicing a little every day she was soon able to manage nicely.

So Mr. Brown and Lady Gray both returned on snow-shoes, and how every one did laugh when they saw them.

But Lady Gray never could have done it if she had not tried
